About Me

I'm a Design student at the University of Auckland with an interest in visual communication, product design, and creative experimentation. I enjoy exploring different design approaches and turning initial ideas into visual and physical outcomes. Through branding, digital design, and hands-on prototyping, I'm developing my own design language while learning how to create work that is both visually engaging and meaningful to people.

WORK EXPERIENCE

2025-2026 iproduction

- Gained practical experience in creative workflows, communication, and teamwork.

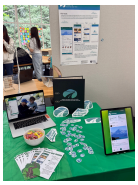

SELECTED PROJECTS

Huffer Time 2026 Visual Identity · Branding · Packaging

A streetwear campaign for Huffer exploring the contrast between daily restrictions and personal freedom. The project includes a visual identity system, online store design, packaging, and promotional materials.

Road Pal 2026 · UI/UX Design · Digital Product · Social Interaction

A travel platform that combines trip planning, shared experiences, booking services, and social connections. The project encourages people to explore the outdoors together and increase real-world interaction through technology.

Tattoo Design Illustration · Body Art

An ongoing exploration of original tattoo designs using flowing lines, controlled detail, and body-aware compositions. The work focuses on creating designs that work with the natural movement of the body.
